Bro, this is deep. Like, seriously. "Winter stars - you walked away with my shadow." It's that feeling, right? When someone leaves, and it's not just them, it's like a whole part of you goes with them. The "winter stars" thing sets this cold, distant vibe, and then bam, "you walked away with my shadow," just hits you. It's not just missing them, it's feeling incomplete, like they took a fundamental piece of you. That's some heavy stuff for just a few lines, man.
